Paper Boxes

Falksalt Flake salt is a special kind of salt that can occur naturally, or be produced by different methods. The fact that these fascinating and brittle flakes can form at all is basically due to a natural behavior of salt. When the crystal under optimal conditions is given a chance to grow out of its dissolved form, the growth takes place at different speeds on the flat surfaces and the outer edges of the crystal, respectively. This is why amazing crystals can be formed in the form of pyramids. Find our unique Flakes in an eco-friendly package of 250gr in 3 unique types including Natural, Himalayan, and Iodine.
